The Barcelona Centre for International Affairs (CIDOB) and the Migration Policy Group (MPG) are carrying out the project “Integration policies: Who benefits? The development and use of indicators in integration debates”.

The goal of the meeting is to inform key integration actors on the scope of the project and solicit their views on its relevance for their work.

The main objectives of the project are to identify and measure integration outcomes, integration policies, and other contextual factors that can impact policy effectiveness; to describe the real and potential beneficiaries of policies in eight key areas, namely employment, education, health, political participation, access to nationality, family reunification, long-term residence, and anti-discrimination, and to collect and analyse high-quality evaluations of integration policy effects.
